

ONCE UPON A TIME

Waldhofzweg Wurzl and his new friend...

Once upon a time in the idyllic forest of the Children's Hotel Waldhof, where the trees towered high into the sky and the birds chirped happily, lived Wurzl, the curious dwarf of Waldhof. Wurzl was known for his adventurous spirit and his love for nature.

One day, while Wurzl was wandering through the forest, he heard a soft rustling behind a tree trunk. Curious as always, he followed the sound and discovered a small marmot peeking out shyly. The marmot seemed to be lost and was wandering alone in the forest.

Wurzl approached carefully and introduced himself. "Hello, I am Wurzl. Who are you?" he asked with a friendly smile. The marmot, who called himself Murml, told him about his adventure, how he had lost his way in the forest and now did not know where he was.

Wurzl immediately felt a deep connection to Murml and decided to help him. Together they roamed the forest, exploring hidden paths and searching for Murml's burrow. But the longer they were out, the clearer it became that Murml could not find his burrow anymore and needed a new home.

Determined not to leave Murml alone, Wurzl offered him to stay with him at the Children's Hotel Waldhof. There, Murml found not only a new home but also a loyal friend in Wurzl. From that day on, they were inseparable and shared many adventures and joyful moments in the Children's Hotel Waldhof.

Whether they explored the forest together, entertained the little guests at the hotel, or simply dreamed together under the stars of the forest, Wurzl and Murml knew that their friendship would last forever.

